Dial-in Services

UWF provides dial-in access to all currently enrolled students. Students may use this service as long as their official student status remains active. Users of the system are allowed to log on only once at any given time. Simultaneous logons are not permitted. The owner of the account is the only person authorized to use it. Do not let friends or family members use your account. Providing your account information to others constitutes a violation of security.

It is strictly forbidden to run any service that make use of a dedicated connection through dialup without proper authorization from the system administrators (i.e., do not run a web site or an ftp site). Students are also prohibited from using any software that maintains a persistent connection to the university network. Running these types of services over dial-in causes a negative impact on the campus network services. Violation of any of these policies may result in the loss of your dial-in privileges.

Software Use (Freeware, Shareware, Personal)

In most cases, the owner of a computer must license copyrighted software that resides on that computer. Therefore students are strictly prohibited from copying any University of West Florida licensed software, with the exception of those software with license agreements which provide for student home use. Information on these software packages may be found in the student labs.

Freeware, software that does not require a license, assumes user responsibility for the use of that software. The software maker is not liable for any damage caused to the computer by the use of freeware. DO NOT install this software on University computers. Install it on your home computers only after careful thought.

Under no circumstances shall any software be installed or modified on university owned computers or any lab computers, without the prior approval of the University staff or faculty responsible for the computer or lab.
